About Jane

Jane is a qualified teacher and performer and has been working in the Salisbury area since the early 1990s. Although principally a cellist, through extensive professional development Jane has extended her skills and currently teaches all the stringed instruments. As well as individual and group tuition, Jane runs very successful First Access string and recorder programmes, and Early Years Foundation Stage and Key Stage 1 class music. Jane brings energy and enthusiasm to her teaching and really enjoys the variety of her work; individual to whole class lessons, ages 3-18, beginner to advanced pupils.

In performance management observations Jane's teaching has been graded as 'outstanding' and she strives to maintain this standard of work through continued professional development and reflective practice. Her teaching is child centred and Jane has a range of approaches and teaching materials/pieces to engage and motivate every child, whether they want to do grade examinations or play their favourite pieces. Over many years her pupils have gone on to study music at university, or continued to play in orchestras after they leave school. Whatever their future holds Jane hopes to have instilled in them a life long enjoyment of music making.
