About Simon

Simon teaches guitar, bass and ukulele.

He has been teaching for around 20 years, including at various Salisbury and Wilton schools since 2014.

Simon teaches classical guitar, including music reading and theory, from beginners onwards, as well as rock pop and folk style playing, both on acoustic and electric guitars. He also teaches bass and ukulele.

Simon tries to get students playing the music they enjoy, whatever style they are into. He has a great record of student grade exam success but if a student doesn't want to do grades that's fine too.

He also runs classical guitar ensembles and pop/rock groups for students in the Salisbury area.
